

Training Commitment

In line with the company strategic objectives for maintaining the highest international standards of quality and safety in all our services and contributing heavily in building Egypt future, Rowad Modern Engineering intends to invest in its staff by providing them with the best and most appropriate training for their jobs. The Company is committed to making substantial financial investment to do so.

In return, the Company seeks a matching commitment from its employees to protect against misuse of training opportunities and investment, avoiding employees joining the Company or attending training for the wrong reasons, and reducing the likelihood of other Companies poaching staff on the basis of training received. Accordingly, both the Company and the employee agree to the following:

The company reserves the right to cover part(s) of the financial investment made in training the employee in the event of:

- The Employee being dismissed, in accordance with the law, or engaging in behavior, which could or would normally lead to dismissal.
- The employee choosing to leave the company, early or shortly after receiving training, for any reason whatsoever.

The company will not:

Tie staff to unwillingly remain with the Company when it is in neither parties interest to do so.

The Employee will:

Repay all or part of the cost of training in accordance with the guidelines below in the event that they are dismissed or choose to leave the Company for any reason whatsoever.

Guidelines:

- a) The pay-back process will be only applied to approved training course(s), excluding Travel and accommodation.
- b) For courses attended, the proportion of training costs which may be repayable will be no more than:
 - 100% if they leave within 6 months of the end of the training course.
 - 50% if they leave within 12 months of the end of the training course.
 - 25% if they leave within 24 months of the end of the training course.
 - 0% if they leave after 24 months of the end of the training course.

- c) Where multiple courses are attended at different times then the amount that maybe repayable at any time is the sum of those arising from each course applicable, in accordance with (b) above, at the time of leaving the company.
- d) In any event, the maximum cost which the Company will seek to recover under this agreement will not exceed the amount equal to the employee's gross annual salary applicable at the time they leave the company.

The decision to waive part of all training costs from an employee with genuine reasons for leaving the company is left to the judgment and discretion of both the Human Resources Manager and the Department's Director.

Declaration:
